The Long View:
Place and Prehistory in the Thames Valley

at the Society of Antiquaries, Burlington House, Piccadilly, London.
Saturday 25 February 2012

Price: £35 (£20 student)
Incl. coffee; lunch not provided, available locally

A one-day conference of the Prehistoric Society to conclude our Thames Valley series, this event will look at the long-term histories of particular places or parts of the valley. The aim will be to explore the differing trajectories of settlement, land-use and ritual activity in different localities from the Mesolithic onwards, including the contrast between places which were intensively used during virtually every period, and those which were used more sporadically or less intensively at certain times.

09.30: Registration
10.00: Coffee
10.30: Welcome and Introduction (Roger M Thomas)
10.45: The Iron Age in the uppermost Thames Valley: before, during and after (Steve Ford)
11.10: A place to call home? Three millennia of comings and goings at Yarnton (Gill Hey)
11.35: The prehistory of Oxford and other Thames Valley confluences (George Lambrick)
12.00: Continuity and change at the Eton Rowing Course: the long view (Tim Allen)
12.25: Discussion
12.45: Lunch
2.00: The Middle Thames in the Late Iron Age: a view from Calleva (Mike Fulford)
2.25: 10,000 years of human inhabitation of the Middlesex gravel terraces (John Lewis)
2.50: Placating *Plowonida: long-term patterns of votive deposition? (Jon Cotton)
3.15: Mucking’s prehistory: the long-term (in hindsight) (Chris Evans)
3.40: Time and place in the prehistory of Kent (Tim Champion)
4.05: Discussion
4.30: Closing comments (Richard Bradley)
4.45: Close

Please book me ……... places at £35; ………places at £20. For The Long View: place & prehistory in the Thames Valley
My cheque for ………... enclosed (made payable to The Prehistoric Society) The Prehistoric society is a registered charity No. 1000567
Name: .................................................. Email .................................. Phone: ......................
Address ...........................................................................................................................................................................
................................................................................................................................................................................................

Please return with remittance to Tessa Machling, Prehistoric Society, c/o Institute of Archaeology, 31–34 Gordon Sq, London WC1H OPY
by Monday 16 January 2012