THE PREHISTORIC SOCIETY
OVERSEAS TOUR 2010: MIDWEST MOUNDBUILDERS

Thursday 14th June – Sunday 1st July 2012

Details: The Prehistoric Society is delighted to announce the revival of the Moundbuilders Tour originally scheduled for 2010. Please see the website for details of the programme.

Tour Fees: The fees include return air travel from London to Chicago, bed and breakfast accommodation (except two nights room only), travel insurance, Chicago airport transfers, coach transport, study tour notes and entrance to sites. In order to keep costs down, these fees do not cover the costs of meals apart from breakfast.

Also included is an introductory talk by Peter Topping, scheduled for the evening of Wed 15th Feb 2012 at the Society of Antiquaries, London.

Tour Guide: Peter Topping (Head of Archaeological Survey & Investigation at English Heritage and Prehistoric Society Vice-President). Peter has travelled extensively in the US and has visited and led previous tours to the American Southwest for the Prehistoric Society and others. He has participated in fieldwork and excavation projects in Minnesota and Ohio with the US National Park Service, and has lectured in Atlanta, Austin, Chicago, Chillicothe, Denver, Lincoln, Montreal, New Orleans, Salt Lake City, San Juan and Vancouver. His personal research interests include Native American ethnography and extraction sites.

N.B. Important advice for members

- To avoid the Society becoming liable for any claims, travel insurance is included in the price of the tour. However, this is not valid for participants aged over 75, who must take out their own comprehensive travel insurance, including personal and belongings insurance and provide confirmation of this to the Society prior to departure (the tour price will be reduced accordingly). The Society can accept no liability with regards to personal injury or loss or damage to belongings.
